

A DAY AT DALLAS.

Second Base Ball Game and Victory For the Gulf City Club.

Visitors Flocking in to Participate in the Fall Races.

Special to the Gazette.

Dallas, November 4.—The Gulf City base ball club of Galveston won their second victory over the Dallas Brown Stockings today by a score of eight to five. The game was a much better one than that of yesterday, but still there were many glaring errors by both clubs. The visitors outplayed the home team everywhere except at the bat. The Browns were decidedly the stronger in this respect, but their good hitting was scattering, while the Gulf City bunched their hits at opportune times, and won the game with this feature and on the merits of fine fielding and good base running. The two clubs play the last game of the series tomorrow. The attendance was large today as at any game here this season.

The city is filling up with strangers visiting the fall races. A great many arrived to-night from Chicago, New York and Philadelphia, among them Frank Hendick of Philadelphia and his pool selling party, and J. R. Powers and A. Hankins, the big sporting men of Chicago.

The west bound Texas & Pacific train is reported four hours late to-night. A wreck is rumored, but nothing can be learned in railroad circles.

SAN ANTONIO.

Fence-Cutters in Atascosa—Paschal's Promotion—A Mexican Rouser as an Unbidden Guest.

Special to the Gazette.

San Antonio, November 3.—The fence-cutters have been active again in Atascosa county, where they cut a mile and a half of H. L. Harrison's pasture fence.

George Paschal, son of F. L. Paschal, a Texas veteran of this city, has been appointed temporarily to the position of United States district attorney for the Eastern district, and left for Galveston this morning. If Evans receives the judgeship, Paschal will probably be transferred to this district. He is a young lawyer of great ability and of high character.

About midnight last night Antonio Cavillo, a Mexican, accompanied by a friend, walked into a private house where there was a birthday party, and demanded the privileges of the floor. Being informed that he was a stranger and that the affair was not a public one, and that he was drunk and must leave, he drew a revolver and fired several shots promiscuously, dangerously wounding a highly esteemed young German named Louis Rummel, by shooting him in the chest. After the shooting Cavillo fled, but was captured and jailed before daylight. When captured it was found that he had shot himself through the left hand.

G. J. Gooch, stock and damage agent of the Missouri Pacific at Palestine, has established a ranch office in this city for the convenience of shippers of stock.

AUSTIN.

Death of Capt. Josselyn—Two Others Gone Over the Dark River.

Special to the Gazette.

Austin, November 4.—Capt. Robert Josselyn, executive clerk of Gov. Ireland, died today. He was long connected with the Texas press, having served as editor of some of the most prominent journals in the state, and also obtained some celebrity as an author. He was aged about seventy-five years, and has been in feeble health for some time.

Dr. J. M. Stalkaker, a prominent German and physician, died last night.

Bob Stewart, a member of the sporting fraternity and ex-chief of police, died this morning of typhoid fever.

WASHINGTON.

Report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue—Facts and Suggestions.

Washington, D. C., November 4.—The annual report of the commissioner of internal revenue has been submitted. By the consolidation of collection districts, an annual saving to the government of $125,000 is secured. Aggregate receipts this year estimated at $25,000,000. During the first three months of the present fiscal year, the revenues decreased $7,920,401. A large number of those engaged in illicit distilling are desirous of abandoning the unlawful practice, and the commissioner has been strongly urged to recommend a proclamation of general amnesty to such persons. He suggests that congress provide a shorter period of limitation for the prosecution of offenses against the revenue. The question of enforcement of the revenue laws in the Indian Territory has been referred to Secretary Folger for action. The number of stamps issued to collectors and agents is 1,052,774,500, representing a value of $162,067,111. The increase in production of manufactured tobacco and snuff is over 9,000,000 pounds; increase in production of cigars 180,000,000, and cigarettes 98,000,000; reduction of revenue from tobacco caused by the act of 1883 is at least $25,000,000; the amount of rebate claimed on tobacco, $3,725,913; allowed, $3,524,167; rejected, $1,787, and the remainder returned for amendment. Distilleries operated for the year 5,129, consuming 18,444,787 bushels of grain; decrease of spirits produced, about thirty-two million gallons; spirits removed in bond for export, 5,371,427 gallons; transferred to manufacturing warehouses, 302,588; withdrawn from warehouses, 83,291,190; allowed for leakage and evaporation, 2,291,613; remaining in warehouses June 30th, 1888, 80,419,093; withdrawn for export the first three months of the present fiscal year, 752,389; distilled spirits in the United States, except what may be in customs bonded warehouses, October 1, 1888, nearly 116,000,000 gallons. The commissioner recommends the withdrawal of the privilege granted to manufacturers of vinegar of separating the alcoholic property from the fermented mash and using the same in the production of vinegar. Aside from the above, the report is an elaboration of points presented in the commissioner's letter to the secretary published on the 27th of July.

Judge Ferris, second auditor of the treasury, in his annual report shows the methods by which soldiers of the late war and government are being swindled by unprincipled attorneys and agents. He says not one in ten applications for arrears of pay and bounty really possess any merit, and not one in twenty of all these claims is filled upon suggestion by voluntary action of the claimant. An attorney seeks the client and represents to the uninformed, more generally colored soldiers or their heirs, that they have not been paid all they are justly due them; that some new law or new construction of existing law entitles them to more bounty or further pay. A small fee in advance is required, generally two or three dollars, sometimes more; in fact, all that can be got, with a promise that the more will be demanded unless the claim be allowed. The fee is allowed, the application filed, and in the end the attorney rarely looks after the claim, as it does not pay. He has received his little advance fee, and it pays better to hunt up more victims. Soldiers are swindled and after their claims are rejected, they frequently denounce the government and its officers, who simply administer the law as they find it. Another class of worthless claims is constantly increasing, namely, claims for bounties already paid. In many of these cases denials of former payments are made under oath when the records of this office are authenticated.

MARY CHURCHILL.

Her Hiding Place at Last Discovered by a Newspaper Reporter.

Working in the Laundry of an Asylum Near Indianapolis.

St. Louis, November 4.—Thos. J. Gallagher, the well-known editor of the Globe-Democrat, who has been working the Mary Churchill case continuously for months past, finally located the girl yesterday in an insane asylum three miles from Indianapolis, where she has been working in a laundry since September 4th under the management of Jennie Lockwood. Gallagher had a long interview with her last night, but did not learn why she left home or whether she will return. Her leaving home, however, was a voluntary act. She went alone, and all the theories about elopement, marriage or being in any way connected with any gentleman were all wrong. Colonel Churchill, the girl's father, left for Indianapolis to-day and further developments will follow his seeing her.

MINT DROPS.

Report of Uncle Sam's National Money Manufactory—Excess of Silver Coinage.

Washington, D. C., November 4.—The annual report of the director of the mint shows gold received and operated upon for the year $49,000,000; silver nearly $35,000,000; coinings for the year valued at $26,290,704; total gold coinage, $55,935,927; silver, $28,835,470, of which $28,111,119 were standard dollars. The profit on coinage of silver dollars was $570,133, net silver profits for the last five years $1,686,681. The silver circulation, the director says, is in excess of the requirements, and he expresses the belief that equal coinage of both gold and silver by all nations, and suggests that congress consider the question whether the law directing the monthly coinage of $2,000,000 in silver dollars should not be modified or repealed. The director recommends that the coinage of gold dollars and three-cent nickel pieces be discontinued, the repeal of the act authorizing the coinage of the trade dollar, and that the latter coins be sent to the mints and exchanged for other silver dollars. The production of gold for the current calendar year will be $52,000,000, and silver $49,000,000. The estimated circulation of coin on October 1st is $441,512,699 in gold and $235,291,223 in silver.

FOREIGN.

ENGLAND.

London, November 4.—The Albanians residing in upper Albania, Macedonia and the Euphrates have sent petitions to the powers hostile to Turkey, asking for the annexation of Greece.

MOODY'S MEETINGS.

London, November 4.—Moody has successfully opened his great mission at Lington. Four meetings were held, each attended by 4,000 to 6,000 people. The iron hall built for the occasion proved a complete success in all its arrangements, affording seating room for 5,800 persons. Sankey sang with his customary effect, and Moody's powerful addresses showed he had not lost his hold on the people here. One hundred persons rose to be prayed for. A heavy storm this afternoon and evening somewhat diminished the attendance, but unfailing interest in the mission occupied seats on the platform to-day and this evening. Moody, alluding to his mission, said three weeks' work in that country had been the most productive of his life.

SCOTLAND.

FIRE AT GLASGOW.

Glasgow, November 4.—The loss by the fire in the upholstery warehouse of Wylie & Lockhead and adjoining buildings is £300,000.

Haupp's Statement.

St. Paul, November 4.—Herman Haupp, late general manager of the Northern Pacific road, has made a public statement in which he defends himself from the charge of extravagance in management of that road, and charges that no such thing was ever mentioned until the recent raid on Wall street upon Villard stocks. He expresses great admiration for Villard & Oakes, and says their relations are very friendly. Beyond this, the card contains little new that was not reported in the interview last Thursday.

PILOT POINT.

Memorial Services—A Sunday Fight—Other Local Briefs.

Special to the Gazette.

Pilot Point, November 4.—A very interesting service was held this morning at the M. E. church, the anniversary of the Woman's Missionary society, a portion of which was in memory of Mrs. Mattie Obenchain, late secretary of the society. The railing surrounding the altar, the pulpit, the organ and a chair were beautifully decorated with flowers and mourning. The house was densely crowded, when Dr. J. H. Johnson opened by reading the sixty-second chapter of Isaiah and prayer, followed by a song, "The Watchman," led by Miss Lou Covent with Miss Lula Collier at the organ. The president of the society, Miss Minnie Baird, presented resolutions following, with an address, which was a fitting tribute to their late secretary. After which, the Rev. A. J. Worley of Whitesboro was introduced and entertained the large audience for an hour. His address was "Woman Work in the Missionary cause." Mr. Worley is a pleasant speaker, and his discourse was highly appreciated. Next came the collection, which amounted to nearly $75, and goes into their treasury.

A well-to-do farmer living near Aubrey got full of the "O be joyful" yesterday and as he was passing the "Cheap John" wagon, the proprietor cried out "Goods cheaper than stealing." The farmer jokingly slipped a table spread from the wagon into his own vehicle and started towards home. Complaint was made and Constable Glascock detailed to arrest the man, which he did, and the farmer was placed under bonds for his appearance in court.

Click, who is under arrest for robbing Esquire Yentley, have been identified by two who were in company with Yentley at the time, but his examining trial was put off till Monday, owing to the absence of the prosecuting witness.

C. S. Charleville and family, from Gainesville, arrived in town yesterday. He has rented Wilson's brick store, southwest corner of the square, and will open a harness and saddlery business.

MITCHELL COUNTY.

Railroad Ramblings—Other Local News and Views.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

Colorado, November 4.—Our business men are called together to meet at the opera house to perfect some details connected with the organization of the Gulf, San Antonio, Colorado City & Kansas City railroad company, this evening. Everything is working smoothly and harmoniously in the progress of development of this scheme; encouraging letters and assurances of financial aid and backing are daily received by the secretary, and all present indications point to an early commencement of this grand highway which is to unite this young giant city of ours with her North and South neighbors.

Grading on our streets will now commence at once. Owing to delay in arrival of Mr. J. R. Van Frank, who has been engaged to superintend the work, an earlier start has not been made, but work will now be vigorously prosecuted. Our streets are even now in tolerably fair order, and with six thousand dollars spent upon them, the amount of money set aside for this purpose, we shall surely have the "diamond" streets in the state and, when complete, we want you all to come and see them and endorse this prophesy.

The man Henderson, who was under arrest for alleged poisoning of an old sheep herder, up on Clayton's ranch last week, was discharged yesterday on a writ of habeas corpus.

E. J. Edwards, Esq., who returned from his California trip last week, has brought a few picked rams into town, selected from the fine band he had here last spring, and will ship to Taylor where he has an extra lot of Spanish merino ewes, fifteen pound shearers. He will experiment with a cross of French or Spanish, and we are much interested to see the result, both in regard to wool and mutton.

The Good brick block on Oak street is rapidly approaching completion, mechanics now working on the inside. This building is one of the most substantial in Colorado and reflects great credit on architect and builders.

J. A. Penick returned on Wednesday last from an extended trip to St. Louis, Kansas City and the North.

Tom Wampler, the jolly attorney from Big Springs, has been in town shaking hands all around.

Charley Clinton, the Howard county sheep man, was also in the city taking the rounds with the boys.

C. C. Poole, Esq., the cattleman from Cleburne, has been in town this week in attendance on the court.

We learn that Mr. Thimian Fowler of Cleburne has contracted for the hotel part, and aims to conduct a first-class establishment for the accommodation of man and beast.

Messrs. Snider & Vreeland, who have been conducting a large hardware business here, announce their intention of closing out their stock at cost price.

Judge Wheeler, we are pleased to say, is now convalescent and attending to his duties at the court room. A few petit cases will be tried to-day, and then the winding up business will be in order. Court will commence.

H. H. Shear, Esq., of the enterprising grain firm of Cowan & Shear, has gone to Dallas to contract for grain and feed to stock up their mammoth new warehouse which they have just finished near the Union depot.

Rev. H. D. Stratton, a gentleman from the town of Greenville, Ga., is here looking around with a view to locating permanently.

City Marshal Tom Griffin, who was accidentally shot while in the performance of his duties last Monday night, is resting easily and his wound is doing as well as could be expected. It will be some time before we get a sight of his genial countenance on the streets again, however.

Fire at Akiers.

New Orleans, November 4.—Saturday night a fire occurred at Akiers, near the river front, two squares above the Canal-street ferry landing. A strong wind caused the small frame buildings to burn rapidly. About twenty houses were consumed, including the Red River Transportation company's saw mill and shops.

TEE DANVILLE RIOT.

The Dead and Wounded—Mounted Police Fired Into by Negroes.

Great Excitement Throughout the State—Public Meetings Held.

Danville, Va., November 4.—Besides the five negroes reported killed last night, two others have since died. The names of the four are Junius Hall and Ned Davis, servants at the Arlington hotel, Jere Smith and Peter Walters. The bodies of those found dead on the streets were handed over to friends and taken away. Chas. Adams, Edward Baptist and Thos. Keene were slightly wounded. Walter Holland, who was shot in the head, is the son of C. G. Holland, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee. He rested well last night, and hopes are entertained of his recovery. J. E. Seward, shot in the abdomen, will recover. Richard Valentine was shot in the hand accidentally.

At three o'clock last night, R. M. Hubbard, George Coleman and P. Gravel, on duty as mounted police, while passing a house occupied by colored people in the outskirts of the city, were fired upon. About twenty shots were given and returned. Hubbard received several shot wounds on his leg, and his horse was wounded in several places. The party entered the building and captured a negro, Wm. Coleman, on whose person was found, though he denied having a weapon, a six-shooter, three barrels of which had been discharged, and some powder and a fuse. He was lodged in jail. Hubbard is suffering greatly this morning. By agreement no services were held in the churches to-day. The city is under supervision of the town sergeant. The Greys, a white company of volunteers, has been accepted by advice of Hon. J. C. Cabell, member of congress, and other leading citizens. The town sergeant, James Wood, did not call out the colored military company. After delivery of the mails this morning, which was largely attended by whites and blacks, the town sergeant proclaimed that no assemblies on the streets would be allowed and advised the people to go home and remain quiet. Hon. Cabell and Judge Ecker joined in the request. All is now quiet, but the people of the city are not without apprehension of further trouble. About twenty persons in all are reported wounded.

AT HARRISBURG.

Harrisburg, Va., November 4.—Great excitement was caused here by the news of the riot at Danville. It is believed it will have a decided effect in the valley counties on Tuesday's election.

AT RICHMOND.

Richmond, Va., November 4.—An immense mass meeting of citizens was held this (Sunday) evening, to express their sentiments concerning the riot at Danville. A preamble setting forth that the conflict between the races in Danville was the result of a conspiracy to force an issue upon the white people, by leaders of the coalition movement, was adopted, together with the following resolutions:

First, That in the conflict which took place at Danville, the white people sympathize freely with their own race.

Second, That we have the utmost confidence in the truthfulness of the address sent out by the citizens of Danville, with whom one or more of us is personally acquainted.

Third, That whenever or wherever this conflict shall take place in the state of Virginia, all the whites are affectionately, earnestly and solemnly entreated to take the part of their own race.

Fourth, The history of Virginia up to and including the present time shows they have never raised the race issue, but the question was forced on the white people against their protests and in an offensive manner.

Fifth, In this particular canvass the race question was forced upon them, and its irritation planned and sedulously cultivated by William Mahone and his co-conspirators for their own wicked and selfish ends, and upon their heads must rest all responsibilities for blood which may be spilled by men who are driven to this conflict in the best interests of civilization.

The meeting was presided over by Colonel James B. Purcell.

NEATLY NABBED.

How a Detective Captured an Indiana Counterfeiter.

Evansville, November 4.—Connor, alias Faulkner, alias ever so many other names, has been captured in Frenchtown, Harrison county, Ind. He was the chief and leading spirit of the counterfeiters of this district and lives near Frenchtown in a log house, built very much like a fort. It had one chinking out all around, and while Faulkner worked on the manufacture of the coin his wife stood guard. Immediately after the arrest of the Pikeville gang, R. D. Hobbs, the detective known as Doc Henderson, went to Frenchtown and to the house of Faulkner, whom he told about the raid, and said he (Hobbs) was the only man to escape and wanted to be hidden for a few days. Faulkner readily took him and explained all his processes to Hobbs, who pretended to be an experienced counterfeiter. Last Saturday Faulkner went to Frenchtown to get some valuable papers and to find out the extent of the raid. Hobbs, pretending to be going for a bottle of whisky, followed Faulkner, and dodging behind fences and trees, saw the counterfeiter enter a store. Hobbs ran in and presenting a revolver at Faulkner's head ordered him to throw up his hands. The cuffs were put on and a deputy marshal took him in charge. Hobbs hurried back to the house and running in called to Mrs. Walker to bring the shot-gun. She, thinking her husband was in danger, obeyed. As soon as she had given Hobbs the weapon he clasped the cuffs on her before she knew what he was up to, and this morning he brought the couple down to this city, afterwards going to Indianapolis. Faulkner made cents from ten cents in silver to twenty dollars in gold so perfectly that he said he himself was not afraid to go into the bank with them.

THOMAS W. KEENE.

What the Press Have to Say of the Great Tragedian in the Roles He Plays Here.

Thomas W. Keene will appear here to-morrow night in Richard III, and Wednesday night in Macbeth. These are his greatest roles, and he is great in them both. Some have delayed getting their tickets in order to see what the weather would be. As the prospects are for dry and pleasant weather, there should be no further delay, but tickets should be procured at once, while good seats are to be had. The notices below show in what estimation Keene is held where he has played this season:

Baltimore Sun: Mr. T. W. Keene appeared at Halliday Street theater last night in Shakespeare's Richard III supported by a company very strong in most of the principal parts. Mr. Keene is certainly a very fine actor, and has improved in many respects in the last three years, and especially since his last rendition of Gloucester in this city. His interpretation of the character of this wily duke is a masterly one and thoroughly original in many of the most telling situations. In the scene where he pleads his cause with Lady Anne, and the one where he artfully causes the crown to be bestowed upon him, the endless changes of demeanor were managed with such consummate skill as to call for rounds of applause, and brought Mr. Keene several times before the curtain. In the last act Mr. Keene seemed to have risen to the occasion, and it is doubtful if the tent scene or the death of Richard had ever been better played on the boards of the Old Drury.

Chicago Tribune: Thos. W. Keene could scarcely find in the whole range of the drama a better vehicle for the display of his abilities than Macbeth, the role in which he appeared last night in this town before one of the largest and most pleased audiences of the season. Keene, in his Richard III, of last season, indicated that he was a great actor; his Macbeth proves it. His remarkable facial expression, his extraordinary variety of gesture, his vocal resource, his force, virility and magnetic power and ample scope in this interpretation. The part of all Shakespeare's tragic characters, is the most difficult of attainment, and, indeed, there is no actor now extant upon the English speaking stage who has shown himself equal to it.

The most distinctive feature of Mr. Keene's impersonation is his subtle investiture of it with the sense of the supernatural surroundings and preordained, down even in his first encounter with the witches on the blasted heath.

THIRD AND FOURTH WARDS

A saloon man in the Fourth ward said he forgot that yesterday was Sunday.

The Texas & Pacific west-bound train was four and a half hours late last night.

Numbers of persons went out to see the hospital in vehicles yesterday.

The voice of the compass was still yesterday.

Heavy express travel over the railroads.

A certain railroad man lost his heart at the Union depot several nights ago.

Give us more light at the depot.

Fine Teams.

The Pacific Express company of this city received last week another pair of fine horses for their business at this point. They now have three pair of the finest gray horses to be found in this section of the state and the agent takes pride in saying he thinks they are the "best in the state."

The Celebrated Hog Case—Editorial Trials—Local Notes.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

Glenrose, November 3.—Trade has been very quiet this week. Cotton coming in slowly.

Dr. Willingham and son have been on a visit to Kendall county this week and returned Thursday evening.

Capt. Campbell, who is clerking for a hardware house of Cleburne, came over on a visit Saturday and took away several orders for staves, which goes to show that a hardware house here would pay handsomely and be a great benefit to the town.

There has been considerable of a breeze, bordering on a little war, here, growing out of an article in last week's Reporter, stirring up the officers to do their duty in keeping down violations of the law. The officers had the editor of the Reporter summoned before the justice of the peace to tell what he knew. The result was that the deputy sheriff, who also runs a saloon, took exceptions to what the editor told, and got on the war-path, and sought the fighting editor of the Reporter. The fighting editor was not in, but the religious editor took it up, and stood his ground, and told the deputy sheriff that it was no go and to go hence without delay, or words to that effect.
